

March Comes in Like a Lion... Goes out Like a Lamb

You may be familiar with the expression “In like a lion out like a lamb,” which is an abbreviation for “If March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb.” This bit of weather folklore predicts the kind of spring weather you may have in late March according to how the weather appears early in the month.

If March comes in like a lion, do you believe it will go out like a lamb? Is there any truth to this saying? Weather folklore sayings are as colorful as our imagination. While many sayings are based on careful observations and turn out to be accurate, others are merely rhymes or beliefs of the people who came before us. So is this one any different? A dry March and a wet May;
Fill barns and bays with corn and hay.
As it rains in March, so it rains in June.
March winds and April showers, Bring forth May flowers.
So many mists in March you see, so many frosts in May will be.
Is't on St. Joseph's day (19th) clear,
So follows a fertile year;
Is't on St. Mary's (25th) bright and clear,
Fertile is said to be the year.
