

Tree Swallow Flight Pattern Migration

Migrates north relatively early in spring. Southward migration begins as early as July, peaks in early fall. Migrates by day, in flocks.

In North America the tree swallow breeds from Alaska east to Newfoundland, Canada and south to California, Colorado, Nebraska and Maryland. It winters north to southern California, the Gulf Coast and the Carolinas.

<http://www.nhptv.org/natureworks/treeswallow.htm>

Tree Swallow at Patuxent Research Refuge, MD